LANGUAGE BRIDGING PROGRAMS

Improve your language and academic skills while working toward your chosen degree.

Our campus is located in a historically and culturally diverse region where languages and cultures meet to create an enriching learning experience. Given the diverse make-up of our student population, we have created language bridging programs to make it easier for students from non-English backgrounds to get ready for studies at Mount Allison.

These programs are designed for students who need extra time and training to meet the University's English proficiency requirements, and who would like to benefit from additional academic preparation and transition time before full-time studies.

PATHWAYS TO CAMPUS

Even if your level of English proficiency is below our required minimum for an unconditional offer, you may be eligible to participate in one of our Pathway programs toward full-time studies.
